

Coworking is an alternate style of providing for a location for your workspace needs. It emphasizes collaboration and community among the members of a coworking center. This is in contrast to home based businesses and even office business centers where individuals are more isolated. Interaction with other like minded people improves creativity, innovation and productivity. Individuals within a community are far happier than those in isolation.

Coworking is not for everyone. Coworking is not a cheap office. It is an open environment. Certain styles of working are better suited for private office space. If your style includes:

Heavy phone usage

A need or desire for seclusion or privacy

Frequent guests and meetings

Easily distracted by others

Coworking may not be right for you. Meadow Creek offers a variety of work space solutions that might be better suited to your style or used in combination with your coworking membership. Members enjoy a 25% discount on hourly offices, meeting rooms and virtual offices at Meadow Creek Business Center.

In order to maintain the proper environment within The White Board to foster success and accelerate the growth of early stage businesses, we have an application process to ensure that members are familiar with the coworking concept, are motivated to join for the right reasons and will be active members of our community. Further, we use this process to gather information on our members to help us better meet their needs through the facility and the events that we sponsor.

Thank you for your interest in joining The White Board. This application is brief, but important.
